

Science Gateways

Science gateways are a concept to allow research & engineering communities to access shared data, software, computing services, instruments, and educational resources.

SGX3 - A Center of Excellence to Extend Access, Expand the Community, and Exemplify Good Practices for CI Through Science Gateways

<https://sciencegateways.org>

Science Gateways

Storybook about more than 200 gateways that were supported by SGCI

SGX3 | SGCI

Summer Internship Experience

SCAN ME

Are you a graduate student looking for an exciting summer experience to learn what it is like to be a gateway developer? Do you have technical skills with python, docker, containerization and looking to add to your skillset?

Join the SGX3 Summer Experience in Austin, Texas to gain:

- Opportunities to train in Software Engineering, Science Gateway development
- Hands-on mentoring from Texas Advanced Computing Center staff
- Integrate as a cohort of SGX3 interns with the Advanced Computing Interfaces department
- Social and team-building activities
- Professional and leadership development opportunities
- Technical report and publication opportunities

JUNE 3 - AUGUST 2, 2024

April 15-19, 2024

Rising Stars

Gateways 2024, October 8-10,
2024 | Bozeman, MT

<https://sciencegateways.org>